Fazeta

Fazeta is a type family uses the optical sections. It is a modern static antiqua (it has not obliqued axis, serifs without slopes) but distant from ceremonious and rigid look of this type category. Inspiration was typeproduction from Czechoslovakia 60's - J. Týfa, V. Preissig, J. Linzboth or A. Krátky. Common factor of this typefaces is vivid and sharp design with stable serifs, tend to rational construction rather than calligraphy and some sophisticated small details vitalized general impression. In this case are facetted asymmetrical arches (some abbreviation). Specific of this typeface is a short arch of glyph „f“ that allows comfortable typesetting without ligatures obligation. In character set are besides classical ligatures discretionary ligatures for special occasions. Another surprising element is that all vertical strokes are slightly expanded upwards. These details become invisible in small text but in larger sizes impressed the eye and fix attention to headline. For traditional text feeling are here alternative glyphs „a, c, f, j, k, r, y, K, R“ terminated with typical serif. Typeface is graded by optical size into 3 variants - caption (robust structure with low contrast, suitable for size 6 - 9 pt), text (medium contrast, suitable for ordinary text about 10 pt) and display (high contrast and subtle details for 20 pt and higher). Every variant has 5 weights (light, regular, medium, bold and black) with italics. Typeface is with their naked cold expression suitable for neutral text without emotional feelings. In contrast with most antique typefaces this is intended for modern glossy white paper where crisp details can excelled. Every font contains 1140 glyphs, between them original small capitals, various digits, fractions, indexes, mathematical symbols, arrows, borders and many alternative glyphs.

- 30 styles (5 weights, 3 optical sizes + italics)
- 1140 glyphs per font
- alternative glyphs for traditional feeling
- 6 facetted borders
- 84 discretionary ligatures
- support of all latin languages

Turecký prezident Recep Tayyip Erdogan vo štvrtok povedal, že je islamofóbne a neprijateľné, aby izraelský premiér Benjamin Netanjahu spájal minulotýždňové smrtiace útoky militantov v Paríži s islamom. Informovala o tom agentúra Reuters. „Izraelská vláda musí zastaviť svoju agresívnu a rasistickú politiku, prestať útočiť na druhých a skrývať sa za antisemitizmom,“ uviedol prezidentov hovorca Ibrahim Kalin v písomnom vyhlásení na Erdoganovej webovej stránke. Turecký premiér Ahmet Davutoglu prirovnal Netanjahua k islamským militantom, ktorí minulý týždeň uskutočnili vo francúzskej metropole Paríž teroristické útoky. „Rovnako, ako sa zločinu proti ľudskosti dopustili teroristi, ktorí spáchali masaker v Paríži, dopúšťa sa zločinov proti ľudskosti aj Netanjahu stojaci na čele vlády, kto-Dočkáme se mezi Ruskem a USA nových závodů ve zbrojení? Záleží na tom, jak budeme tento pojem definovat. Za studené války oba bloky zbrojily takřka extenzivně, na jakýkoli krok protivníka reagovaly víceméně symetricky, tedy snahou vytvořit zbraň téže kategorie, avšak výkonnější. V tomto smyslu závody ve zbrojení skončily spolu se studenou válkou. Dnes ale vidíme něco jiného. Rusko chápe některé zbrojní projekty Západu, zejména protiraketovou obranu, jako něco namířeného proti sobě, a ať už má pravdu, nebo ne, reaguje vývojem protizbraní. Pokud bude me i toto pokládat za závody ve zbrojení, tak takové asymetrické „závody“ probíhají už minimálně deset let. Naposledy ruský ministr zahraničí Sergej Lavrov oznamil, že nastal čas na zásadní modernizaci jaderných a konvenčních zbraní, protože

Un assaut sanglant. Plusieurs personnes auraient été tuées au cours d'une opération terroriste ce jeudi soir dans le quartier de la gare à Verviers, près de Liège, en Belgique, rapportent les médias belges. Le parquet fédéral a confirmé au quotidien Le Soir qu'une opération anti-terroriste était en cours. «On est dans le registre des djihadistes», a précisé une source proche du gouvernement à l'AFP. Le parquet fédéral belge a annoncé la tenue d'une conférence de presse à Bruxelles à 20h «sur l'opération liée au terrorisme à Verviers». La RTBF avait indiqué plus tôt que trois personnes seraient mortes et plusieurs autres auraient été interpellées. Ce chiffre n'a pas été confirmé de source officielle dans l'immediat. Les médias flamands parlent eux de deux personnes tuées. Un journaliste

Rogán Antal Fidesz-frakcióvezető szérint az Európai Unió nem tudja megvédeni tagállamait, ezért azoknak, köztük Magyarországnak is, meg kell védeniük magukat. A politikus a terrorellenes fellépésről rendezett szerdai ötpárti egyeztetés után azt is mondta, hogy bár a megbeszélésen érdemben nem volt szó a bevándorlás kérdéséről, a Fidesz meggyőződése az, hogy "Európában a problémának az egyik gyökere a bevándorlásban keresendő". Megjegyezte, Európában 2013-ról 2014-re 130 százalékkal nőtt az illegális bevándorlók száma. "Magyarország ebből a szempontból tranzitárszág" – fűzte hozzá. Rogán össznemzeti ügynek nevezte a terrorizmus elleni fellépést. Mint mondta, pártja javaslatot készít annak érdekében, hogy bizonyos közösségi szimbólumok és értékek kiemelt védelemben ré-

It is Ebola. While thousands of health care workers seek to control the deadly virus in West Africa, and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and other medical professionals seek to prevent its outbreak in the United States, financial analysts and others have been trying to estimate – or “model,” in Wall Street parlance – the potential effect on the global economy. The most authoritative model, at the moment, suggests a potential economic drain of as much as $32.6 billion by the end of 2015 if “the epidemic spreads into neighboring countries” beyond Liberia, Guinea and Sierra Leone, according to a recent study by the World Bank. That estimate is considered a worst-case scenario, but it does not account for any costs beyond the next 18 months, nor does it assume a global pandemic.

Östra Småland besökte den då nyss inflyttade familjen för lite drygt ett år sedan. Redan då fanns ett internationellt intresse av duons hattar. Likt förra året åkte de i år till modeveckan i Paris för att visa upp sina senaste kollektioner. Intresset har inte minskat. Under förra året gjorde vi runt 100 hattar totalt och hittills i år har vi gjort 400 hattar. Nu efter modeveckan har vi beställningar på minst 500 hattar som ska vara klara i slutet av januari, säger Karin Linder och ser sig om i ateljén. Paret bor intill Kåremos gamla lanthandel och butiken har under året i allt större omfattning förvandlats till ateljé. Förut tänkte vi göra om den gamla butiksdelen till butik men nu behöver vi den för produktionen. Vi har även tagit in hjälp av två personer på halvtid för att hinna med. Parets gemensamma hattmärke,

After Paris Attacks, Wrong Responses to Charlie Hebdo

LEADERS IN EUROPE ARE JUSTIFIABLY TRYING TO FIGURE OUT WHAT THEY SHOULD BE DOING TO PREVENT TERRORIST ATTACKS LIKE THE RECENT MASSACRE AT THE SATIRICAL FRENCH NEWSPAPER CHARLIE HEBDO.

Regrettably, some politicians are proposing the kind of Internet censorship and surveillance that would do little to protect their citizens but do a lot to infringe on civil liberties. In Paris, a dozen interior ministers from European Union countries including France, Britain and Germany issued a statement earlier this week calling on Internet service providers to identify and take down online content that aims to incite hatred and terror. The ministers also want the European Union to start monitoring and storing information about the itineraries of air travelers. And in Britain, Prime Minister DAVID CAMERON suggested the country should ban Internet services that did not give the government the ability to monitor all encrypted chats and calls.

Even before the CHARLIE HEBDO attack, European leaders were proposing or enacting harsh measures. For example, the French Parliament passed a law in September that allows the authorities to temporarily seize the passports and identity cards of citizens who they believed intended to join foreign terrorist organizations. And this week, French officials said they had arrested 54 people for hate speech, including a controversial comic.

Appealing as these measures may sound in the aftermath of a tragedy, they are deeply flawed. Countries like France and Germany have long
